What Value Will You Bring?

I bring to my performances a strong vocal presence and have stage experience in varied roles. I have the ability to engage in physical comedy, perform voice acting to emulate many different characters and ranges of emotion. I am trained in improvisation and use my skills to tell a good story. My stage training has prepared me for runway work, along with commercial and print advertising. I am extremely dedicated to my craft and the production as a whole and will give my best performance each time. I will also support fellow project members and crew and work diligently to make the project a success.

Special Talents:

Voice acting, characterization, physical comedy, improvisation, vocal range, storytelling, great collaborator
